

ALGO PLAYERS

Introduction:

Are you a person who likes to algorithmize tasks?????If you thinks of a shortest path while looking a map or think to segment tasks in order to reduce your workload then algo players is specially for you

Problem Statement:

The problem will be based on real life perception and the problem statement will be given on the spot.

Game play

It will be the single round programming contest with solo participation where each coder whacks his brain to code solutions to the given problems. But the most optimized algorithm will be selected among all and declared the winner.

Rules

- Participant will be provided with the real life problem.
- They have to write the most optimized algorithm for the problem.
- It will be the single round event.
- Time given to solve the problem will depend on the problem statement given on the spot.

